

Rusinek, S. (2004). Schema focused therapy after evaluation of semantic modifications in a story recall [Thérapie orientée schemas après évaluation de modifications sémantiques dans un rappel d'histoire], Annales Medico-Psychologiques, 162, 189-194.

This is Yohann, 11 years, suffering from separation anxiety: we present his case as an example of a schema focused therapy. The therapeutic exercise to be done, is directly based on the theoretic bases of the schema notion in cognitive psychopathology. It is more precisely a research for an easier mnemonic work by modifying the informations. The material used is composed of the Early Schema Scale for Children (ISPE) and of a short text to be memorized; its aim is also an evaluation of the early maladaptive schemas. We give a summary of the construction and validation of this material. It is also a pretext to therapeutic exercises of Cognitive Restructuration, based on actual examples of Yohann's errors of judgement.